

DON'T LET WHOOPING COUGH COME BETWEEN YOU AND YOUR LOVED ONES

Whooping cough can be life-threatening in infants.<sup>1</sup>
They may get it from infected family members who unknowingly spread the disease.<sup>2</sup>

HELP PROTECT THE PEOPLE YOU CARE ABOUT FROM WHOOPING COUGH. GET VACCINATED TODAY.

Get Vaccinated
Before You Visit

References: 1. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). Pertussis: whooping cough and pregnancy. <https://www.cdc.gov/pertussis/pregnant/mom/deadly-disease-for-baby.html>. Accessed May 4, 2020. 2. Tan TQ, Gerbie MV. Pertussis, a disease whose time has come: what can be done to control the problem? Obstet Gynecol. 2013;122:370-373.

Brought to you as a public health service by Sanofi Pasteur Inc.
MAT-US-2004073 © 2020 Sanofi Pasteur, Inc. | 05/20 | Printed in USA

